Impact Worldwide

The sub-links to this article divide the world into six major regions. Listed in each region you may see specific countries named. These reports are testimonies from among the Simply The Story workshop attendees … lay people, pastors, ministry leaders and heads of denominations.

We want you to have access to peoples' initial responses to learning from Scripture and sharing with others.

Lastly, we feel it is important for us all to see what kind of long range impact STS has on effective evangelism.

Currently, we have far more reports to post than hands to enter the information! For now just take a look...
Australia: "A small group leader stated, 'We just gained a lot discussing the story using the STS skills, but we are very familiar with Scripture. You say people new to the Bible can do this, but we don't see that.' They were stunned when a man learning with them said 'I've never heard this story before.' They responded, 'But you were ... of the treasure!' (No one knew that this man was a Mzx Background Believer (MBBX), a believer for only one year!)

Bangladesh: "Those we taught in STS are begging us to come again from India to train more.

Burkina Faso: "We are training our leaders throughout the francophones [French speaking Africa] in STS. The illiterates learn alongside our highly trained literate leaders." Abel Ndjerareou

Cambodia: "People think STS is just for kids. But two veteran pastors who know these stories "People think STS is just for kids. But two veteran pastors who know these stories..." "People think STS is just for kids. But two veteran pastors who know these stories..."

Central Asia: "We were seeing converts, but they dropped out of our discipleship training. Now with the STS style of studying the Bible, groups are growing." C

Colombia: "28 Colombian nationals committed to reaching Colombian indigenous tribes loved STS! They began using it right away with the tribals. They're discussing how to weave STS into their strategy." AS Dubai: Hundreds of thousands from scores of countries live in worker’s camps. About 15 language groups received STS training. This letter reflects the attendees’ responses.

First day when the leader ask for volunteer, I say, ‘I’m sorry, I really have problem with my memory since I’ve gone to 3 places ... to go to work, I found myself telling the story to my auntie. ‘I’m surprised that the story is in my ‘heart pocket.’

Second day. Amazing how I was able to retell the story. I can’t express my joy that night because God told me that I am able.

Third day became more exciting as I found lots of hidden treasures in his word.

Fourth day is not just I found the treasures, God’s word pierce my heart and my tears fell down during discussion when I saw myself... to my church and to do it in our Bible study. I’m not afraid anymore to go, as I have the stories in my ‘heart pocket.’

Ethiopia: "STS successfully trained our non-literate tent-makers all over the country." Presbyterian Frontiers Fellowship

Guatemala: "Young Mayan students from rural areas, in their first year in Spanish Bible school, shared these feelings ... the story. ‘Before STS I just passed over so many things.’ ‘I read, but I didn’t understand; I didn’t know how.’" JN

Honduras: "Pastors have changed to using stories since the STS. People love it and now understand Bible." SM

Hong Kong: "We explained the need for oral strategies and gave an example of an STS story to CCMN, the largest world network of cell and house churches. Now even more countries wait for this training!" DM

India: Five generation replication in 9 months after STS. Mumbai house church ministry in slums (was reaching 9,000 weekly) reported growth rate tripled after STS. "Not just more members, more leaders." JS

Ireland: "We discovered that 20% of the people were functionally illiterate. I shared the orality statistics and explained how ... Bibles, wear glasses, and carry pens. A man, who I later found was a successful businessman, approached me afterwards.

He said, ‘How did you know? How did you know that’s what I did? I just learned to read last year. Before that, I had the ... I ministered to people even though I couldn’t read.’ (Incidentally, he loved how we teach to ‘remember’ stories!)

Israel: “My devotions were dry. I was calling G-d for help. STS opened the refreshing of the Word to me.”

Japan: “Listeners gasped when I reported, using STS. I told Martha/Mary and four came to Jesus.”

Kenya: “I now have a way to go deep to train and get quality not just quantity.” Bishop Patrick Njuguna (who leads over 40 churches and now helps lead STS workshops in Africa.)

Kosovo: “A man about 19 in the workshop said, ‘I do not want to tell a story.’ After praying, he gleamed with joy. Afterwards, he shared that he had taken the exam to enter university and failed twice. He feared teaching was Moses at the burning bush and Moses having to be encouraged to return to Egypt. The story was for him!”

Laos: “Stories are in our ‘heart pockets’ now. We can share and not be arrested for carrying Christian materials!”

Mindanao: “At first I thought, How can white people teach storytelling to a guy like me from a storytelling tribe”…I listened and was blown away. We now use STS and train others.”

Mongolia: “Right after STS, I shared the story ‘Jesus Calmed the Storm’ at my church. Everyone were involving in that story by answering questions and asking questions. It created relationships between us.”

Myanmar: “We conducted a camp and used STS. 13 people were saved and took baptism.”

Nepal: “Remote villagers who heard God’s Story on radio formed ‘Jesus clubs.’ These new believers are uneducated, but we are training them in Bible using STS.”

Nigeria: An amazed ex-M__xxm lady melted at seeing in the Martha Mary how Jesus cared for women. In 2 ½ years she now has led 45 ladies to Jesus using that M/M story!

New Zealand: New Zealander who led workshop got this report. “I am using the storytelling skill you taught us in home schooling my children. They just love learning Bible stories this way.”

Panama: “Indigenous tribals showed keen ability in critical thinking when good questions were asked. They even began creating their own powerful and incisive questions.”

Peru: “Incredibly very reserved Urarina Indians, who live in a remote village 30-hours up the Amazon, responded to STS. These non-literates answered questions and found deep biblical insights.”

Philippines: “Our tribals led an STS workshop in the city. Attendees who were trained pastors asked, ‘When are you returning?’ Three of the 5 instructors were non-literate!”

Scotland: “We had 5 minutes to introduce STS. I told Martha and Mary and then Psalm 1 at the second service. We had lively discussion. After church people shared their joy of the process and arranged a workshop.”

Senegal: “John P. is now using the stories and leading M__xms to Jesus.”

Spain: A couple shared, “We want to minister. We are glad we chose to spend our honeymoon learning STS.”

Sri Lanka: “Rev. XX, a Vicar of XX Church for the last 44 years has written six books. He is done much more effective work.’ He shared with tears rolling out of his eyes. All attendees told similar testimony.”

Sudan: “Replication! During evenings, attendees started going out and using stories to...”

<td>The group of seekers who attended week by week, had always seemed to be only semi-engaged in the study. Now, here’s what stunned them even more: One of the regular attendees arrived late, after they had finished discussing the story. Still, she decided to stay and share with the group. She had a long conversation with the expatriate worker. She told him that she and her husband had always wanted to be more involved in the discussion, but they had been too shy. This time, however, the group was fully a part of the discussion and found many deep spiritual treasures in the story.</td>
