User Agreement:

This user/usage agreement applies to all Simply The Story products and training. This agreement does not cover God's Story: From Creation to Eternity products or languages. All God's Story: From Creation to Eternity products fall under a separate usage and licensing agreement than what is stated here.

TGSP, or The God's Story Project, refers to the organization that developed Simply The Story (STS) training and all STS Products. TGSP also produces and develops all God's Story: From Creation to Eternity products.

No part of Simply The Story (STS) files, audio, video, photos, images, illustrations, publication, documents or any part of the STS training or workshop (Products) may be reproduced, changed or integrated with any other program without written permission from TGSP. When permission has been obtained from TGSP, acknowledgement must be given to The God's Story Project (TGSP) & Simply The Story (STS) on any publication using STS Products. The use of what is learned from STS Products, including sharing Bible stories, leading inductive Bible studies oral style, using the conversational model with individuals, do not require written permission and can be used for personal purposes.

By downloading or using any Products from STS or the STS website or anything related to STS, you agree to this usage agreement.

The Products are for personal use only and may not be used for commercial purposes, to represent or promote another organization, without the express written permission obtained from TGSP/STS.

The Products may not be altered. If the alteration results in a material change in either the content or the message of the original Products, such as for translations, you agree to ask for permission from TGSP/STS first. All translations remain under the ownership of TGSP and STS, including but not limited to the STS Handbook, bookmarks, DVDs, printed materials, and audio materials. Any downloading capabilities are solely an accommodation to you and shall not constitute a grant or waiver (or other limitation or implication) of any rights of the copyright owners of any Products.

No Products of STS can be made available for download on non TGSP servers, website or in any other electronic form without written permission from TGSP/STS.

TGSP reserves the right to change the terms and conditions of this Usage Agreement at any time.
